Forecast For Highland & Eilean Siar
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Thursday 29 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mainly dry and rather cloudy, south may brighten up later.

Today:
Mostly cloudy with a few showers, some places staying dry. Chance of some brightness breaking through around the Great Glen and East Highland this afternoon. Misty low cloud around northern coasts. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Tonight:
A few showers possible across East Highland this evening. Otherwise a mostly dry and rather cloudy night, some clear periods in the southwest at times. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Friday:
North staying mostly cloudy with the odd light shower. Some sunny intervals developing across the southwest, perhaps with an afternoon shower otherwise mainly dry. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
A mainly dry few days with some sunny intervals, an odd light shower possible across the north.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.